THE DEMON #22

THE WORLD'S GREATEST HEROES ARE BACK!!!

Last month, Justice League International completed "Breakdowns," the most draining, gut-wrenching experience in its career. It left the team with little direction and little desire to stay together.

But now, the heroes of Earth are reminded that they're needed. The Justice League lives again!

The new era begins this month with a tremendous bang as new creative teams debut on JUSTICE LEAGUE AMERICA and JUSTICE LEAGUE EUROPE. In addition, DC is producing some collections and specialty merchandise, available in your comics specialty store. A quick review of the offerings:

• JUSTICE LEAGUE SPECTACULAR #1 is a 48-page one-shot designed to reintroduce readers to the new Justice League teams and to showcase the talents of the new creative teams. For JUSTICE LEAGUE AMERICA, SUPERMAN's Dan Jurgens is the writer and THE BLACK HOOD's Rick Burchett provides the finishes with issue #61. Over in JUSTICE LEAGUE EUROPE, Gerard Jones assumes the complete writing chores, with art by penciller Ron Randall and inker Randy Elliott, beginning next month with issue #37. The teams divide the honors in the SPECTACULAR, which has two different covers by Jurgens and Elliott, one featuring JLA, the other with JLE.

• JUSTICE LEAGUE OF AMERICA ARCHIVES Volume 1 is the latest addition to DC's acclaimed Archives series. This, the first from the Silver Age, begins with the classic 3-issue run from THE BRAVE & THE BOLD and then the first 6 issues of the JUSTICE LEAGUE OF AMERICA with classic stories by Gardner Fox, Mike Sekowsky, and Bernard Sachs.

• JUSTICE LEAGUE INTERNATIONAL: THE SECRET GOSPEL OF MAXWELL LORD is the second volume to reprint the stories of JLI during its most recent incarnation. The stories capture the League at its zaniest! This collection reprints JUSTICE LEAGUE ANNUAL #1 and JUSTICE LEAGUE INTERNATIONAL #8-12 with stories by Keith Giffen and J.M. DeMatteis, with art by Kevin Maguire, Bill Willingham, and Al Gordon. Maguire provides a new cover.

• The JUSTICE LEAGUE T-SHIRT is a 100% cotton black shirt that has a new picture of the JLA as designed by Randall & Elliott.

• The JUSTICE LEAGUE POSTER is a giant one-sheet with the 1992 JLA-JLE membership with all-new art by Jurgens & Burchett.

The new League assumes a new direction and celebrates its tradition. The world's greatest heroes are back...be there!

RETURN TO THE MYSTERIOUS ROOTS OF SWAMP THING

One of the reprint collections most frequently requested by comics fans and collectors has been the classic early issues of Len Wein's and Bernie Wrightson's SWAMP THING. These horror tales represent some of the best work in comics of the seventies and have served to inspire current creators, among them Alan Moore in his version of the same character, and others in the horrific aspects of many of DC's mature-readers' titles. As Wein has said about his and Wrightson's collaboration, each issue was an attempt on their part to explore the different conventions of horror fiction. They exceeded their wildest expectations.

It's no surprise, then, that DC has acceded to fan requests by collecting—for the first time in a single volume — SWAMP THING #1-10. Wein has written a new introduction, reviewing the origin of the character and how he has changed. An added bonus is the 8-page story from HOUSE OF SECRETS #92 that introduced Swamp Thing. Also included are Alec Holland, Abigail Arcane, Matt Cable, Anton Arcane, and the Patchwork Man.

Those familiar with the riveting Swamp Thing stories of the last few years now have the chance to see how the legend began and why the character has an enduring and inspiring appeal.

WAVERIDER RACES THROUGH TIME TO SAVE THE WORLD—AGAIN!

In ARMAGEDDON: ALIEN AGENDA we saw what became of the villainous Monarch and Captain Atom. But, many readers wondered, what was to become of Waverider, the courageous scientist who risked his entire future and family to prevent Monarch from ruling the world?

John Ostrander has the answer in ARMAGEDDON: INFERNO, a brand-new 4-issue Standard Format miniseries. It seems that all this running back and forth through time — in ALIEN AGENDA, SUPERMAN, TIME MASTERS and ARMAGEDDON 2001 — has produced instability in the timestream. This unfortunately means that certain threats to the world, long thought resolved, are now rearing their ugly heads.

Waverider detects this problem and has resolved not to lose another world. So, he criss-crosses through time to select a band of followers who can solve the problem. His odd collection of allies includes Batman, Lobo, the Spectre, Enemy Ace, Flash, Power Girl, and many more. Their opponents are brand-new characters, created exclusively for this miniseries.

To design these new characters, editor Dennis O'Neil assigned Tom Mandrake, Walt Simonson, Arthur Adams, and Michael Netzer. Each will be drawing one issue of the miniseries, with a separate parallel story thread pencilled by Luke McDonnell.

The saga of Waverider continues...in ARMAGEDDON: INFERNO.
